Blog posts

This is a standard WordPress posts module. You can write articles here, create categories, set tags.

The theme supports 2 layout types of blog:

- One Column with Sidebar
- One Column

If you want to create an additional Blog Page, create an empty page, then set Template. To set the Blog template for a page:

1. Go to the page editor ⇒ Template ⇒ choose Blog type
2. Click on Publish/Update button.

The screenshot shows the WordPress page editor interface. The "Page Attributes" section is expanded, and the "Template" dropdown menu is open, showing a list of templates: "Blog 2 Columns with Sidebar", "Default template", "Blog 1 Column", "Blog 1 Column with Sidebar", "Blog 2 Columns", "Blog 2 Columns with Sidebar", "Blog 3 Columns", "Elementor Canvas", and "Elementor Full Width". The "Blog 2 Columns with Sidebar" option is highlighted. In the "Publish" section, the "Update" button is highlighted with a red box. A red arrow points from the "Update" button to the "Blog 2 Columns with Sidebar" option in the template dropdown. Another red arrow points from the "Update" button to the "Update" button in the "Publish" section. A red circle with the number "2" is next to the "Update" button in the "Publish" section. A red circle with the number "1" is next to the "Template" dropdown menu.
